

New Data Resources: OECD's eChemPortal
Sally de Marcellus, Electronic Information Analyst
Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD)

Presenter biography

Sally de Marcellus is an electronic information analyst in the Environment, Health and Safety Division of the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) and has been managing the development of eChemPortal with OECD stakeholders since 2008.

Presentation abstract

This presentation on eChemPortal, The Global Portal to Information on Chemical Substances, will describe what it is and how to use it. The presentation will cover the kind of information that can be found via eChemPortal, including information on classification and labelling information according to the Globally Harmonized System of Classification and Labelling of Chemicals (GHS).