Dear Student:

I am Denese A. Deeds, CIH, Industrial Health & Safety Consultants, Inc. and Co-chair of the Outreach and Communications Committee of the Society for Chemical Hazard Communication, (SCHC). SCHC is offering students in the Charleston SC area free admission, (a $150.00 value) to the society's semi-annual Spring meeting to be held March 25-26 at the Charleston Marriott in Charleston, SC. SCHC will grant meeting waivers to any promising student interested in a career in Hazard Communication or to students who may just want to learn more about the field of HazCom.

The Society for Chemical Hazard Communication is a professional society committed to serving chemical hazard communication professionals and to promote knowledge and awareness in all areas of chemical hazard communication. Members are professionals who represent industrial, consumer, and specialty chemical companies, pharmaceutical firms, manufacturers, distributors and importers, government agencies, universities and consultants.

SCHC holds conferences each year in the Fall and Spring. Meetings feature regulatory hazard communication updates, expert speakers from domestic or international chemical agencies and offers opportunities for business networking. SCHC offers member discounts to the meetings and the professional development courses. Further, a forum for Job Posting and Employment Opportunities in Hazard Communication is available to members on our website.

Additionally, the society is also offering free parking at the hotel for the conference if needed.

SCHC also offers professional development courses to develop the expertise needed to operate in the chemical, regulatory, and Hazard Communication industry. Please visit SCHC's website: www.schc.org for a complete listing of course offerings and the agenda for the Spring meeting and the meeting fee waiver application.
