Leadership and Teamwork for Hazard Communication

Sunday, March 26, 2017

New Orleans, Marriott – New Orleans, Louisiana

Seminar Description

This seminar is designed to provide an overview of a theoretical understanding of leadership and its practical application to leading organizations, teams, and projects in Hazard Communication. In many work settings, leadership skills are as important as technical skills. This seminar will deliver a holistic and integrated approach to leadership which begins with a foundation of values and vision, then addresses a number of practical skills, and ends with a challenge to lead change and leave a legacy. Good leaders are always in demand and this seminar will help provide participants with the skills critical to optimizing their effectiveness as leaders – specifically in Hazard Communication, but also in the broader context of Product Stewardship.

There are no prerequisites to this seminar.

Intended Audience

Hazard communication professionals looking to strengthen their leadership, teamwork and organizational alignment skills.
