

Transport, Corrosivity & Harmonizing International Standards

Vaughn Arthur, President
Dangerous Goods Advisory Council (DGAC)

Presenter biography

Vaughn Arthur joined the staff of Dangerous Goods Advisory Council (DGAC) in 1989 as the coordinator of training programs. In 1991 he was named to the position of Director of Education and Training. He became DGAC's principal classroom instructor in 1994 and took the helm as DGAC President in December of 2011.

Vaughn is a frequent speaker on dangerous goods transportation issues at conferences and seminars in the U.S. and abroad. He is a certified Dangerous Goods Safety Adviser (DGSA), has published articles and has contributed to course materials and textbooks on hazardous materials transportation. He and his family reside near Washington, DC.

Presentation abstract